Danny — Remember the day we cut..... if I had another chance this year I would love to get the same bunch of kids together and do the same things. Best of luck always. Love, Nevis P.S. Don't get in trouble. I mean trouble!

— Danny — It's been fun through these past years. Lots of luck but of wishes in future years. Your friend, Carl Bardwin

--- a story in words and pictures of the first year in the new

Saint Mary's High School

STOCKTON, CALIFORNIA

Foreword

THE CAULDRON OF 1957 is a record of the first year in our new high school, where faculty, undergraduates and seniors have all worked together for the first time in modern buildings which are the pride of those Stocktonians who have sacrificed to build them, and of the faculty and students who have been privileged to use their spacious facilities. This year has seen new experiments, new scenes, new faces and new friendships --- not the least of which has been the renewal of the centuries old friendship between St. Francis and St. Dominic.--- through the members of the faculty.

This yearbook aims to picture, in as complete a manner as possible, the pioneer year at the new school --- those who were there, what they achieved, and how they participated in school activities and sports.

The Principal's Message

"BE NOT THE FIRST by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last the old to lay aside." This sage advice of the poet, Alexander Pope, could not be followed at St. Mary's this year, at least not all of it. Ours was the pleasant duty of being the first to try the new school. It was our privilege to "break in" the magnificent new school for which we had been waiting so long. Every privilege implies a corresponding obligation. As the first occupants of the new school we had to be careful to preserve and protect this investment in our future. We were the custodians of the sacrifices of countless Stockton Catholics who made this school possible. There is a saying, worn almost threadbare with repetition, that we should strive to make the world a better place to live in. We have applied this same idea to our stay at St. Mary's. We have left St. Mary's better than we found it and thus made it a better place to learn in.

The other half of the poet's advice we were able to follow. We had no intentions of laying aside the worthwhile traditions and the time-tested ideals of the old St. Mary's, passed on through succeeding generations of students since 1876. Some slight changes in school rules were made necessary by the new building. Progress always means some change. But, like Our Lord, we were able to say of ourselves that we came not to destroy but to fulfill --- the traditions and ideals of St. Mary's. We feel we have succeeded.

Science Department

If any one of the five hundred students who made his way through the halls of St. Mary's on enrollment day had any false notions about the importance of science in modern education, these notions must soon have been dispelled by the vision that confronted them in our "science wing." Four large laboratories, with lecture rooms nearby, offered the latest equipment for training eager (and not so eager) novices in physics, chemistry, biology and general science.

The physics students, if they missed the leaky sinks and broken pulleys of the old school, managed to console themselves amid the gleaming new equipment --- flasks, scales, barometers and a "power panel," which gives a low power supply and converts alternating current into direct current. The chemistry students discovered that they could not stain the lab's soapstone sinks and counters with acid. They did manage, however, to fill the halls with odors reminiscent of eggs---not too fresh---and disinfectants, despite the hooded table installed especially for such "smelly" experiments. What chemistry students would be satisfied if they didn't choke the passers-by once in a while?

The aquarium in their room gave the general science classes a first-hand glance into the lives and times of growing guppies, while (sometimes to their dismay) the rather low experiment-tables in the biology lab offered Father Xavier's budding biologists a beautiful vantage point for investigating the interiors of frogs, pigeons and cats.

The labs are no longer so shiny new as when the students first viewed them, some bottles and other glassware have gone the way of all glassware in unsteady hands, but the science students are, no doubt, better equipped to understand the scientific atmosphere of the modern world in which they live.

Fine Arts

"Lettering is an art;" reads the caption on the bulletin board and surrounding it are examples of the work of the students of St. Mary's. Beginning with the mottoes displayed at Open House on October 28, student art-work has played an important part in school activities, from construction of scenery and posters for the Christmas Bazaar, to the exhibition for the Spring Festival of Arts. Entries were also sent to the 30th Annual Scholastic Arts Awards Contest, and to the Teachers' Institute held at Riordan High School.

A delightful new art room, which is flooded with light, spacious and altogether practical, provides the background for all these efforts, and for the first time at St. Mary's, there is ample room for the storage of supplies.

In the north wing of the building is the room for the Mechanical Drawing Class. It has produced among other things the plans for the altar of our future chapel. Among the major achievements in this department were the clever exhibits of student work for the October Open House and for the Festival of Arts in April.

St. Mary's Commercial Department

Wing A, Rooms 1, 3, and 5 now contain the commercial department, and there is a large bookkeeping room in reserve. Time was in former years when two small rooms held all our budding typists and office secretaries, but now we have ample space, new equipment and the latest office machines on which to practice. It is cheering, too, that in the midst of all the newness, our former teachers, Mrs. Lagorio and Mrs. Whitson, have been here to use and to enjoy the new facilities with us.

During the past year, outstanding work in the business courses has been done by Lorraine Woodworth, Kathleen Smith, Hannah Armanino, Patricia Meier, Teresita Ocampo, Velma Miller, and Dennis Foss. Lorraine Woodworth was also the recipient of the Bank of America Award for the outstanding business student.

Homemaking

Theory is fine, but there is absolutely nothing like practice, and the twenty-three senior girls in the Homemaking class certainly were subjected to plenty of practice this yast year as they tried their skill in the five new well-equipped kitchenettes of Room 13. Here they learned not only how to cook, but how to budget their money, to serve, and to set tables. Other essentials of homemaking such as food values, home nursing, and flower arranging were also a part of the year's course.

The first class project was for the Open House in September when the girls provided refreshments for over a thousand guests. They also made cakes and cookies for the Christmas Bazaar, prepared and served two faculty luncheons and acted as hostesses for afternoon tea whenever there were out-of-town guests. In April, the Homemaking class took part in the Festival of Arts by serving refreshments for those who attended.

In the sewing class, under the direction of Mrs. Whitson, the girls made blouses, skirts, and dresses. Their finished work was often put in the hall display case during the year, and in March they gave a fashion show for the Mothers' Club. The best showing ot their work was made at the Festival of Arts in April when the girls modeled their own creations.

Public Speaking

That the students who met every day under Miss Marcia Lou Brown's direction to study the why's and wherefore's of good speech making have received valuable training can be proved by the number of them who have participated in local speech contests. Sharon March, coached by Father Xavier, won second honors at the American Legion contest. Ed Laufenberg represented St. Mary's in the Lions Club competition and Dennis Percy took part in the Native Sons' contest on March 25.

Confraternity of Christian Doctrine

Every Tuesday afternoon during the past year a special class was held to instruct future lay catechists. This program was sponsored by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine under the direction of the Maryknoll Sisters. Upon the completion of thirty-six hours of instruction, under the direction of Sister Marcus Marie, a group of seniors received special diplomas during graduation exercises in June.

California Scholarship Federation

"Scholarship for service" is their theme, and the C. S. F. members aim to put the motto into practice by making the most of their scholastic opportunities during their high school years.

The St. Mary's Chapter of the C. S. F. was established in 1954 and at present it includes among its members those students who have a high grade point average. This year, first semester C. S. F. officers were: Luci Schwedhelm, president; Louis Vignoli, vice-president; and Jean O'Meara, secretary.

The members of the C. S. F. enjoy a privilege day once a year. On November 28 they joined the members of the Stockton College C. S. F. for a tour of the Standard Oil Refinery in Richmond and then went on to San Francisco for dinner and a show.

The long range advantage of membership is that Gold Seal Bearers, those who have been in the C. S. F. for six semesters, are eligible for a number of scholarships and are granted a high school diploma to which is affixed a gold seal --- a tangible evidence of their achievement. Life members of C. S. F. are Jerene Vix, Luci Schwedhelm and Gayle Costa.

Glee Club

In September, "Glee Club" was a new term in St. Mary's vocabulary, but by Christmas, "Glee" was very much with us, and the club's members had already made a name for themselves. As the year progressed, their programs added much to the enjoyment of school assemblies, while their formal appearances, beginning with Open House, were enthusiastically received by appreciative audiences.

One of the highlights of the year was the Christmas program presented under the direction of Father Forrest in St. Mary's Assumption Auditorium. That same week, the choristers sang Christmas carols for the patients of Dameron, St. Joseph's and the Stockton State Hospital. The Festival of Arts owed much of its success to their program of choral numbers, and they rounded out their first year by taking part in the commencement exercises on June 13.

With Luci Schwedhelm as accompanist, the club's repertoire included sacred music, selections from operettas, three and four-part choral numbers and popular songs. Soloists included Grace Cedas, Rico Serbo, Sharon Gaines, Laverne Jacopetti, Norma Mount and Janette Busalacchi.

The Cauldron

A yearbook, no matter how small it is, takes effort, and is put together only after a great deal of planning, composing, and revising. To us on the staff, the finished product is a joy --- in part because it is our own work and even more so, because we realize that later on it will bring back memories that we will recall with pleasure.

We will not soon forget: Maria Theresa's articles, written, rewritten, and then written again; Luci's lists for the senior pictures typed over and over; Gary and Jim Cannon triumphantly bringing in sponsors' checks; Hannah Armanino working long Sunday afternoons at the typewriter (with her side remarks that she wasn't even on the staff!); and Marilyn, Richard, Carol, Lorraine and Jerene all putting in extra time on Saturdays so that the deadlines might be met.

The Cauldron of 1957 is a reality now, and very real, too, is our knowledge that editing a yearbook is not so simple as it seemed last September at our first meeting around the art tables in Room 12. But we have at last our green-and-white covered book, and we are proud, now, to present the 1957 Cauldron.

The Kettle

Hannah Armanino, editor, and Richard Payne, assistant-editor, 1957 Kettle

Perhaps no organization got more of a "face-lifting" in its transition from the old St. Mary's to the new, than did our school paper, the Kettle, and its staff. Last year's stencils, mimeograph ink and staples have given way to layout, galleys and dummies as the Kettle assumed the status of a printed paper. Twice a week, the journalism class has met to learn some of the intricacies of putting a paper together, to compare the efforts of our staff with those of other school papers, to write articles and to rewrite --- and rewrite --- and rewrite. Though sometimes lost in a maze of problems --- "Do we have enough ads?" "Who was supposed to write that article?" "Is the deadline tomorrow?" "We haven't a good shot for the first page." --- or simply discouraged by the task of breaking in on a new field, we have learned and stored away impressions we won't soon forget.

We will remember Hannah-of-the-many-jobs, editing the paper with calm, hard-working efficiency; Richard, always to be counted on for a well-written, last minute article; Janet and Marilyn and Carol, our capable page-editors scotch-taping the dummy; grinning and quipping Dave, mailing the exchange papers --- practically before they were off the press; Mike working "under-pressure" to produce a gem of an article at the last minute; Norma and Pat huddled together to produce a feature --- or just giggles; Sandy, generously offering to type a stack of articles; Betty, driving hither and thither around town to get ads or contact the printer; the juniors and sophomores on the staff, who worked as hard as we to produce our paper; and finally, the criticisms, favorable or adverse, which helped us to learn.

Student Government

Life is a complex of rights and duties, leaders and followers, rewards and penalties; and student life at St. Mary's is no exception. To guide the members of the student body to a greater participation in, and appreciation of, their privileges and obligations; to develop leadership and to promote good order in the school --- these are the aims of the executive council and proctor court.

As the school has grown in numbers this year, so has its council. To the ranks of the student body officers, the presidents and vice-presidents of each class, the athletic director and the rally chairman who formerly composed the council were added elected representatives from each homeroom --- fourteen in all. This broadening of student representation has served as a lesson in democracy and strengthened the bond between the student body and its leaders.

To the select group of senior boys who make up the proctor court has gone the important, and not always appreciated work of maintaining good order in the halls and assemblies. Each week this court has met to enforce its admonitions by trying and penalizing offenders.

Federation

Catholic high school Federation meetings, which were scattered throughout the school year, with one of the six schools in the North Bay Unit as host, presented an opportunity for our students to express their views on many problems pertinent to the teen-ager.

Acting as host at the first Federation meetings of the year gave us an opportunity to show off our new school plant to the visiting members of the North Bay Unit. At the second meeting, in Santa Rosa, Jerry Rossi, Federation president, represented St. Mary's with a paper on "Temperance in Food and Drink." Because Gary Darrigo reached Petaluma too late to deliver his paper on "Prudence and Its Role in Mary's Life," he later presented it at one of the St. Mary's student body meetings. Representing St. Mary's througout the year at the Federation meetings was Ruth Laufenberg, Federation vice-president, who acted as Recording Secretary of the North Bay Federation. The sincere hard-working efforts of its moderator, Sister M. Esther, have made the Federation an integral part of school life at St. Mary's.

Comprising the Federation are six committees promoting Catholic action among high school students. These and their chairmen are: Apostolic Committee, Louise Good; Christian Life Committee, Luci Schwedhelm; Christian Literature Committee, Veronica Nichols; Mission Committee, Betty Ann Shellard; Parish Activities Committee, Ruth Laufenberg; and Publicity Committee; Maria Theresa David-Malig.

Junior Red Cross

Thirty-two enthusiastic and lively members made up the Junior Red Cross chapter at St. Mary's this year. They worked under the leadership of president, Judy Noli; vice-president, Barbara Brisco; secretary, Marlene Mazzera; Marlene LaPertche, treasurer; and sponsor, Mrs. L. Whitson. Their ability to work well together was evident in all their activities but especially when St. Mary's played host to the county chapter of the organization on February 27. During the past year, Susan Bender had the honor of being vice-president of the San Joaquin County Junior Red Cross chapter and of being nominated county representative to foreign lands.

Future Nurses Club

The newest of all St. Mary's organizations is the Future Nurses Club established this year under the direction of Ida Bosworth, R.N. The purpose of the organization is to recruit nurses for the training schools and the club is open to any girl interested in any phase of the nursing profession: graduate, registered or vocational. Officers elected at the first meeting were: Velma Miller, president; Joanne Deyaert, vice-president; and Judy Wilcoxon, secretary-treasurer. On May 15, the members visited the County Hospital on their first field trip.

Senior members of Future Nurses' Club include R. Laufenberg, J. Deyaert, J. Wilcoxon, S. Haynes, V. Miller.

Activity Leaders:

Laverne Jacopetti, Marilyn Valpey, David Becerra, Lorraine Woodworth, Michael O'Toole, Sharon Gaines.

School Activities

Freshman Hat Day

"Have you ever seen a cake walking?" Well, we have --- for on Freshman Hat Day, October 11, Martha Guinan's prize-winning chapeau featured a real cake, complete with candles and suitably inscribed, "I am a lowly freshman." Two hundred headpieces added interest to the day, and styles ranged all the way from original creations featuring African jungle scenes to a complete ravioli dinner balanced on a table. The boy's prize went to Patrick Carroll who wore a topper decorated with a duck decoy having a jet-propelled tail.

The freshmen bore the day well in spite of the indignity of wearing signs inscribed, "I am a lowly freshman." They carried books for the seniors; recited "poetry" upon request; and entertained the student body with a stirring program emceed by Adolph Gotelli and featuring the Freshman Symphony Orchestra, directed with great vigor by Joe Brassesco.

In the evening the freshmen were guests of the seniors at the first dance in the new school. "Blue Suede Booties" was the theme and the cafetorium was decorated to the rafters with pastel streamers, balloons and blue booties for name plates.

The day brought back memories of another Hat Day when as freshmen, the Class of 1957 were the victims, and Betty Ann Shellard and Carol Beaulieu wore prize-winning creations. The dance theme that year was "Too Young to Tango," but we danced anyway to the music of "The Four I.Q's" and had a wonderful time.

Fashion Show

A tradition of many years' standing at St. Mary's is the Cauldron Fashion Show. This year's annual fund-raising style review took place November 2 in the auditorium at St. Mary's Assumption School. Sponsored by the Cauldron Staff, the Committee on Decorations provided a setting of enlarged playing cards, and card game language was used in the commentary --- both in keeping with the theme: "Full House of Fashions." Each table was decorated with a miniature Jack of Clubs or Queen of Hearts. The center of attraction, however, was the panel on the stage with full-sized kings.

Campus Lane furnished fall and winter Lanz originals and the show consisted of winter cottons, sportswear, cocktail and evening dresses. The masculine styles from John Jr. included the latest in men's outfits, especially those for teen-age boys. The highlight of the evening was "four of a kind" --- four red dresses modeled by Carol Licciardi, Anna Lucaccini, Francesca Silva and Sheila Kertchem.

Chairman of the evening was Ruth Laufenberg. Janet Jones was commentator.

Christmas Bazaar

The Christmas Bazaar, one of the oldest of the St. Mary's traditions, was carried over into the new school with only a few changes. Even though the building was new and the activities lasted for two days rather than one afternoon, as previously, the same school spirit prevailed.

Each class spent weeks in preparation and there was competition among classes to see which could produce the cleverest booth. The seniors had their traditional food booth, "Santa's Kitchen;" the juniors had the religious booth in the form of a Stable; the sophomores turned nautical and featured yarn octopi by the dozens in all sizes and colors; and the freshmen presided over Toyland.

The "extras" were what really made the afternoon enjoyable: the parcel post, grab bag, fish pond, the outdoor merry-go-round, song dedications, Santa Claus, and the spook house --- all drew enthusiastic patronage. Although we had newer and better facilities for a larger audience, the spirit of the bazaar was what counts, and the financial returns, ear-marked for Charity, were more than gratifying.

Freshmen preside over Toyland:
K. Carroll, D. Bertuccelli, S. Stephens,
A. Menconi, J. Kennard, M. Scism.

The seniors sell the cakes they baked for the bazaar:
P. Meier, P. Cardinal, B. Rosso, B. Tuso, S. Haynes, E. Bryant, I. Bernadicou, G. Stagi, L. Jacopetti in background.

Sandy Haynes giggled and the audience stood dumbfounded before Dave Becerra's auctioneering abilities.

Santa Claus, Jim Heffernan, preserved at least one third grader's faith in St. Nicholas.

Sophs L. Schenone, C. O'Neil, M. LaPertche, E. Crosetti, and P. Gallagher made the records go 'round and 'round.

In spite of competition from Gary Darrigo, sophomore booths attracted a large group of customers.

High School Retreat

New to St. Mary's students was the idea of a closed retreat, but on February 21 twenty-three senior girls traveled to St. Clare's Retreat House in Santa Cruz for just such a retreat. At the same time, the remainder of the students made a retreat at school where the cafetorium was put to use as a temporary chapel.

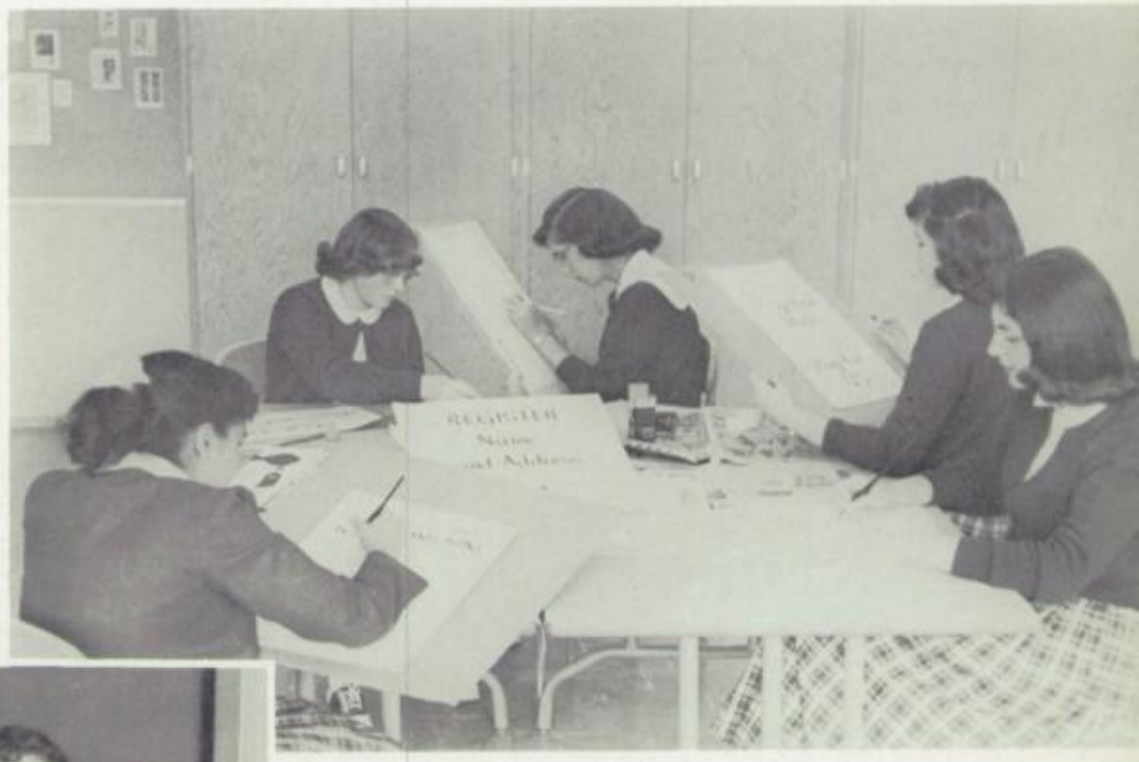
Leaving for St. Clare's: L. Good, S. Green, A. Lucaccini, J. Deyaert, J. Vix, E. Conrady, L. Schwedhelm, L. Cortopassi, S. Gaines, H. Armanino.

Happy after a retreat well-made with retreat master, Father Bryce Moran, O.F.M. and the Franciscan Sisters: M. Valpey, J. McHugh, B. Shellard, L. Carruesco, R. Laufenberg, N. Mount, E. Bryant, J. Vix, S. Gaines.

For those students who remained at home, St. Mary's Cafetorium served as chapel for Mass and for the retreat conferences of Father Gratian Grable, O.F.M.

The Festival of Arts

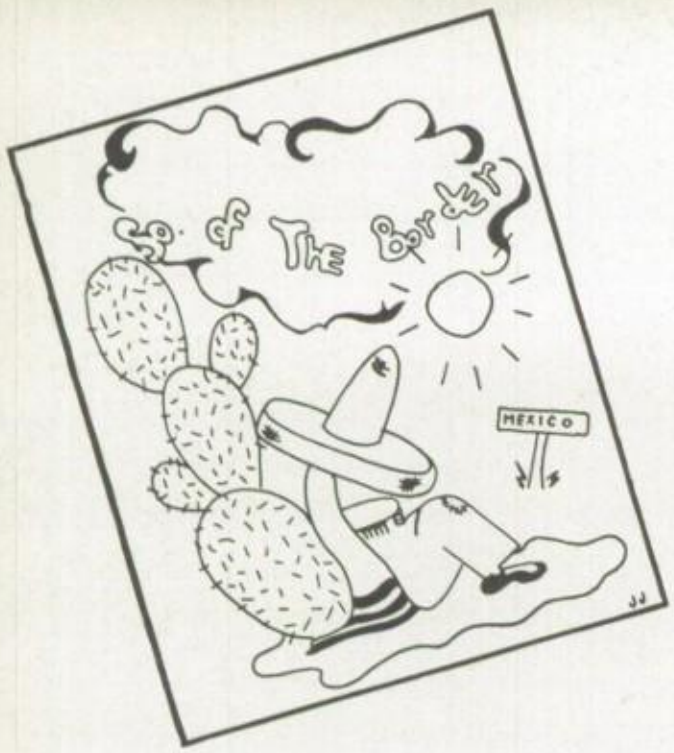
To give parents and friends a close-up of the work of St. Mary's students, a Festival of Arts was held on Friday, April 5. Besides art work and homemaking displays, there was a Science Fair of projects from the biology, chemistry and physics departments. After viewing these displays, the parents were treated to Wilder's "Happy Journey" presented by the dramatics class and to a selection of choral numbers by the Glee Club.

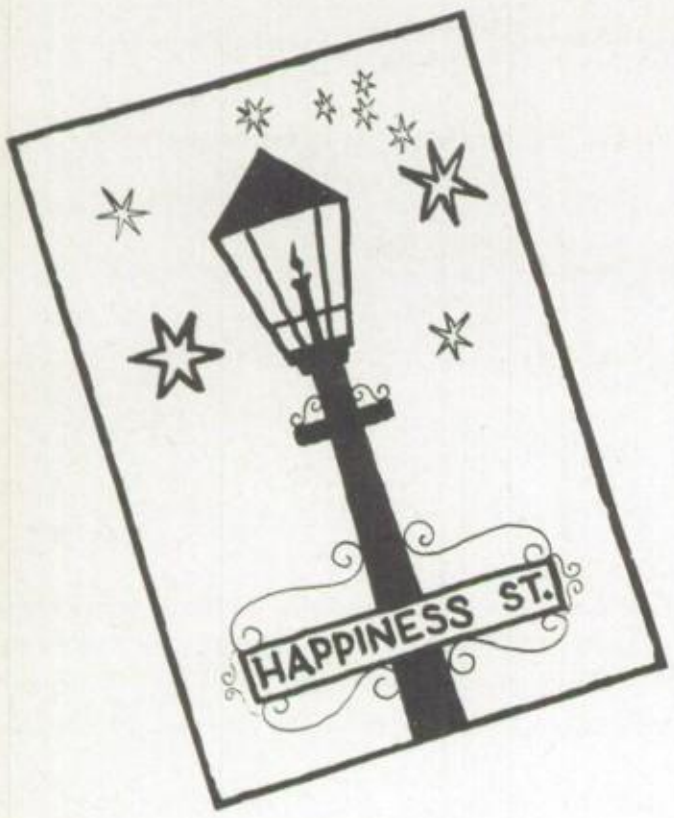


The art class took an active part in the Festival of Arts. Preparing posters for the occasion are: clockwise: J. Granato, K. Gareis, M. Podesta, B. Bertolli, and M. Balbi.

Posing in the skirts that they made and modeled for the event are: B. Butardo, S. Kertchem, J. Cunningham, F. Silva, S. Gaines, J. Firpo, S. Leary, P. Meier, and T. Esposito.

Father Forrest's Glee Club presented a program during the evening. They sang Roger's "Hello Young Lovers," "The Desert Song," "Tea for Two," and Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."





Saint Mary's Dances

With the launching of the traditional Freshman Reception --- "Blue Suede Booties" --- the social season began. On October 11th, the seniors welcomed the freshmen in the Cafetorium, which was gaily decorated with blue booties, toy blocks, balloons, and streamers.

"South of the Border," the junior dance, was next on the social calendar. A Mexican theme was carried out in the decorations, and the evening was high-lighted by the breaking of the "pinata," a donkey filled with candy.

After the mid-term "finals" everyone needed a lift. It was then that the Mission Committee provided an evening of entertainment, "In the Alps," to relax overwrought nerves. Much to the surprise of all, Pete Youdall and Marilyn Valpey arrived in lederhosen (which fitted in with the decor suitably) and did the polka to the tune of "In the Alps."

A brightly colored banner expressed the feelings of the S. M. students in the words, "Welcome, Sacred Heart," when the members of St. Mary's and Sacred Heart High from San Francisco arrived at the school cafetorium on February 15 following a basketball game between the two schools. This was a super-dance, thoroughly enjoyed by all.

"Happiness Street" was the theme of the sophomores' first invasion into the social whirl. The class was so excited over their first fete that they made plans for it for many weeks in advance.

To the juniors and seniors, the Prom is always the most exciting dance of the year. Couples in formal attire arrived one by one to find a dreamy atmosphere at the Country Club, decorated to fit the name "Blue Flamingo." May 24th was truly a night to remember!

There is nothing in the world like the Junior - Senior Prom --- Just ask M. C. Baysinger, C. Scott, S. Gaines, J. O'Neil, J. Vix, F. Cantele, B. Mowatt, S. Pratt, D. Percy, P. Thorns, N. Rabon, P. Campion.

Assemblies

The first entertainment of the school year was produced by the freshmen as part of the Hat Day celebration. Joe Brassesco directed the orchestra and featured as soloists Phil Arbios, Mary George, Susan Gansneder, and Andrew Armanino. The freshman girls did their part as vocalists, complete with a chorus line.

More serious occasions were those at which Father Xavier distributed the quarterly reports and awarded the Honor Cup to the Class of '57, and the student body meetings which were occasionally followed by programs by the Glee Club.

Honor pins are awarded to:
T. Faine, J. Lovato, D. Nomellini, R. Derivi, A. Armanino, and T. Osterdock.

The Sports Picture

Block S M

The familiar green and white block sweaters sporting the all-important stripes are the insignia of the Block S M members. The club includes all those who have earned a block in football, basketball, or baseball during their high school athletic career. At present, the organization has an enthusiastic membership under president, Emil Vaccarezza; vice-president, Maurice Michaels; treasurer, Dick Atler; secretary, Eugene Neri; and sergeant-at-arms, Danny Happoldt. The current roster also includes a group of honorary members who have been awarded blocks because of their participation in the spring Boxing Carnival.

The chief activity of the Block S M the past few years has been to sponsor the intramural sports program with emphasis on the interclass basketball and volleyball. In May, the club members organized the Athletic Day program which included interclass games climaxed by an awards assembly and rally.

Girls' Athletic Association

An energetic organization boasting a membership of a hundred girls is what made Saint Mary's G.A.A. click during the past year. Working under the leadership of president, Judy McDonnell, they sponsored the girls' intramural volleyball tournament during the spring semester. Twelve teams were entered in the contest, among them, "Tweedledettes," "Calypsos," "Eight Bows and a Peep," "Banana Boat Crew," and "Dizzy Flames."

Among other activities, the G.A.A. at the end of the basketball season gave an award dinner for the players and presented blocks and trophies. At the end of the year, the girls enjoyed a picnic at a beautiful spot in the Mother Lode region.

Football Season

When the football season ended on November 10, the battered equipment was stored away and the contusions, bruises, lacerations, broken bones and sundry other injuries were slowly healing. It was a dismal season on the whole, with eight losses and a single victory --- over our neighboring rival, Linden.

On the other hand, there were some humorous incidents which relieved the tension of the games. No one will forget St. Mary's only home game with St. Elizabeth's when, during the half time, a live ram, representing St. Mary's, proceeded to nibble on the St. Elizabeth's mascot's tail.

Neither will the football players forget seeing the San Francisco city limits' sign when they were supposed to be heading for Mountain View --- Gary Darrigo at the wheel of the bus, of course! The Mountain View game also found Lorraine Carruesco leading the cheering section of two St. Mary's spectators: Mary Anne Baucom and Betty Ann Shellard.

At the Linden game, Lorraine Woodworth, Lilia Cortopassi, Rosalie Loring, Sharon Gaines, Pat Meier, Judy McDonnell, Mary Alice Avila, Don Hanham, Dorothy Antonini, Carol Godfrey, Sara Johnson, and the football players got wet. But as it turned out, the brightest day of the season was that dark and rainy afternoon at Linden, when we finally won!

Basketball Review for 1957

Saint Mary's has long been known as a school which produces one of the finest basketball teams in Central California. However, 1957 will go down in history as the year the Rams lost more games than they won. After a poor start in the season, with losses to Calaveras, Antioch, and Benicia, the Rams seemed once again to have their old spark when they defeated Amador and Liberty by good margins. But the victories were short-lived when three more rivals: Tracy, Franklin, and Oakdale --- trimmed the Saint Mary's five.

In both encounters with their neighbors to the South, the Rams played well and defeated Manteca, 56-44 and 44-32. But these were the last of the Saint Mary's victories, as the Rams lost to the teams of Oakdale, Tracy, Sacred Heart, Calaveras, and Sonora.

Looking back over the scores, one may see that while Saint Mary's may have lost the games, she never lost the enthusiasm that makes her a school with a fighting basketball spirit.

Girls' Basketball Team

The Girls' Basketball Squad played a full schedule this year. They had an excellent record against St. Vincent's, Vallejo; St. Joseph's, Sacramento; St. Rose, San Francisco; St. Aloysius Teen Club and the Eskies of Stockton. They lost only two games, both of them to Bishop Armstrong of Sacramento. The players who contributed so much to the successful season were Judy Wilcoxon, Donna Fortney, Rose Pasco, Teresita Ocampo, Jerilynn Blackmun, and guards, Betty Ann Shellard, Mary Alice Avila, Jean DeVorss, and Mary Ann O'Neil.

After each home game, Saint Mary's entertained the visitors in Saint Mary's Assumption Cafeteria with an informal luncheon during which all the players were introduced to one another. The friendly atmosphere thus created eased any tensions arising from school rivalries and left a warm feeling among all the players.

Intramural Sports

The "Fearful Five" faced the "Mudhens," or the "Censored Seven," or "Gladiators," or whomever the intramural basketball schedule turned up against them, but the "Beachcombers" took on all comers and emerged victorious. They played nine games and won all of them including a close final contest against the sophomore "Trojans." The latter group lost two and won seven to finish in second place.

Intramural volleyball was a contest for both boys and girls. The teams boasted colorful names and determined, if not too skillful, participants. The season was climaxed by the annual game between the Irish and the Italians. Volleyball managers were Emil Vaccarezza and Jane McHugh.

The "69ers" exterminate the "Exterminators."

The New Saint Mary's

There is always a pleasant anticipation in something new, and very often a certain amount of sentimental regret in casting aside the old. Such were the feelings of many of us when we entered the new St. Mary's High School. We arrived in September 1956 and found a splendidly equipped school: new desks, new books, up-to-date equipment in science labs, the latest type of mechanical drawing tables, modern windows protected by sparkling aluminum louvers and a spacious cafetorium. We also had the added privilege of having priests, the sons of St. Francis, as teachers, along with our Dominican Sisters, to carry on the age-old friendship of St. Francis and St. Dominic.

While we experienced a nostalgia for the happy days spent in the old school, the first year in the new school has already seen the development of a new spirit and a changed schedule that includes many diverse elements. Registration in the Administration Building, the noon-time snack bar line-up, the Paddy Wagon, the more satisfactory lockers, the spacious, well-lighted library, morning Mass in Room 53 --- all bear witness to the changed order of the day.

Have we achieved "settlement" amid our new surroundings? That attachment that one often has toward the old and well-worn? Perhaps not. But our reflexes and emotions and sentiments are not quickly and superficially changed from one environment to another. Our new St. Mary's is still too shiny new to evoke the nostalgia that comes when someone sighs, ". . . the old St. Mary's." But we have no doubt that in the years to come we will look upon a mellowed new St. Mary's and proudly say, "Yes, we broke her in. We were the first graduating class of the new school."

The Paddy Wagon (when it goes) unloads passengers regularly.

The Junior Red Cross members welcome the county chapters to the Cafetorium.

Dear Danny,
It was great going to school with you all these years. I'm so glad that you won the disk jockey contest. You sounded terrific on the radio. Best of luck and have fun this summer.
Luci

Danny had been fun
to have this year,
talking to you this summer,
and good luck in College!!
Be good to Rosemary!!
Love,
Mary Lou

P.S. Still think your pretty neat taking Rosemary to the Sadie dance. Hate, but don't want to hear about the good looking boys you're seeing now.)

Danny -
Best of luck to one of the "Beachcombers".
You really did a great job playing - always remember the fun we had as sophmores when we use to walk home with Robert + Scuddy, always likeable guy you are + you'll stay the same for a long way (Manteca, maybe!!)
Best of luck always

Sammy!
Glad to be out of
it, eh, old man?
Well, its been a long hard grind, but we made it!
The important thing is, all the good times we've had, in and out of class and elsewhere! You've been a good friend and a great guy, so here's wishing you all the luck and success in the world—yours, progressively—

Danny

To a really great guy who really helped me whoop it up alot here in my last year out here at the old seminary hope you don't forget all the kicks when we had the sessions and the big boozing times hope you will stay progressive at all times and don't forget stay out of bars till you are of age

Your Buddy

Frank

Danny -
It's really been great sitting in Physics -- Best of luck always in whatever you do -
Irene Bernadicou

Danny -
I remember the good old times and at Xmas time when we used to send Xmas cards to each other. Remember the time after your bicycle and I went hunting and I shot a rabbit. The time we went hunting and I shot a squirrel. The time we were over at the Fetters & you were over at the Fetters & you were over at the Fetters & you

Dear Danny,
the Great!!!!!
Bet of luck and Power to you always.
I'll see you and your great wonderful personality. (Ha-ha) Hope to see you at S.C. next year. I am sure you'll remember me. Be careful because you well need it. Have remember to give your dynamic personality to Europe.
Love,
Pat

Real swell He's hoping modern jazz!
four long years

RESERVED

Here's to a real swell
guy. And here's hoping you stay turned on to modern jazz!
We've had a lot of kicks for four long years

I won't forget this year. I never did so much happen to me in such a short time. I even had fun at Pete's party. Since then I don't think I ever laughed, cried & fought with any one like I did with you. But it was fun. I've really had fun & liked being with you at all the dances, parties & every other place we went to. Remember the night at Jim Conor's party (you know, that, that's the only time I was actually scared of you. I hope that's not the only time let me drive your car. I guess I can call you a big Daddy-o now, but it but until you do graduate you'll have to give all the girls a big funny at the graduation dance (I don't blame them) and please don't have to miss your next year (your cut-outs) & I have a lot of fun at probably won't be going to school (your) dances, but if I do I hope we can double with have anything to look forward to, I'll think about you. But it next year & like good old times. I just remember you, especially then again during the summer. I'm glad that you'll be coming to stop pretty soon, but just remember, I'm still your buddy with that "brat" temper of yours.

Love ya lots,
Rosemary (Kitten)

P.S. I'm turning over a new leaf, I'm going to quit? Barbara's going steady with Bob, she had his ring.

Can't make my prom the 11th, I always you made it would (did). I had thought it would be a wonderful time a wonderful time with you
